Foreword

The main objective of a high school yearbook is to portray in print and pictures the story of the school year.

Even now, high school students reminisce about "the good ol' days." They attempt to recapture memorable moments that occurred such a short time ago.

At class reunions, and even small friendly gatherings, it is inevitable that someone will say, "Do you remember ... ?" All too soon we forget the name of the boy who was continually falling asleep in history class or the girl who had so many wonderful things to tell about her one and only.

Remember anticipating the inspiring pep rally; attempting to procrastinate studying for that quiz in order to help decorate the school; pushing your way out of study hall; getting a choice spot on the ledge; or, finally when the chips were down, coming through by just plain persistence in staying with it until the job was finished—whether academics or athletics?

Do you remember how frightened you were as a freshman; how eager you were as a sophomore; how very confident you were as a junior; or, how proud, if not somewhat sad, you were as a senior?

If you can recapture these mixed emotions while browsing through this edition of the MEDINIAN, then our efforts will have been worthwhile, and this book will have the lasting quality that is so necessary for a book that will be treasured through the years. So, if you are ready, then let's start right now by saying, "Remember ..."

Medina City Schools has indeed been fortunate to have the services of two very able and qualified men to set the pace of the entire educational system. These two educators are our superintendent and our high school principal.

Under their leadership, the number of individual buildings has risen to five with additions at three of the buildings in order to accommodate the ever-increasing student population.

While the building program has forged ahead, the academic life of the student has not been neglected. Many new and advanced courses, as well as vocational offerings have been added to the schedule.

Opportunities for the worthy graduate has also increased with the forming of the "Dollars for Scholars" fund.

These past six years have been ones of definite progress and a great portion of this success is due entirely to our two very able leaders, Dr. Gotaas and Mr. Loughridge.

Spanish, French, German, and

"Pygmalion" will never be the same since Carl Ritter and Judy Comer gave their interpretation during AP English.

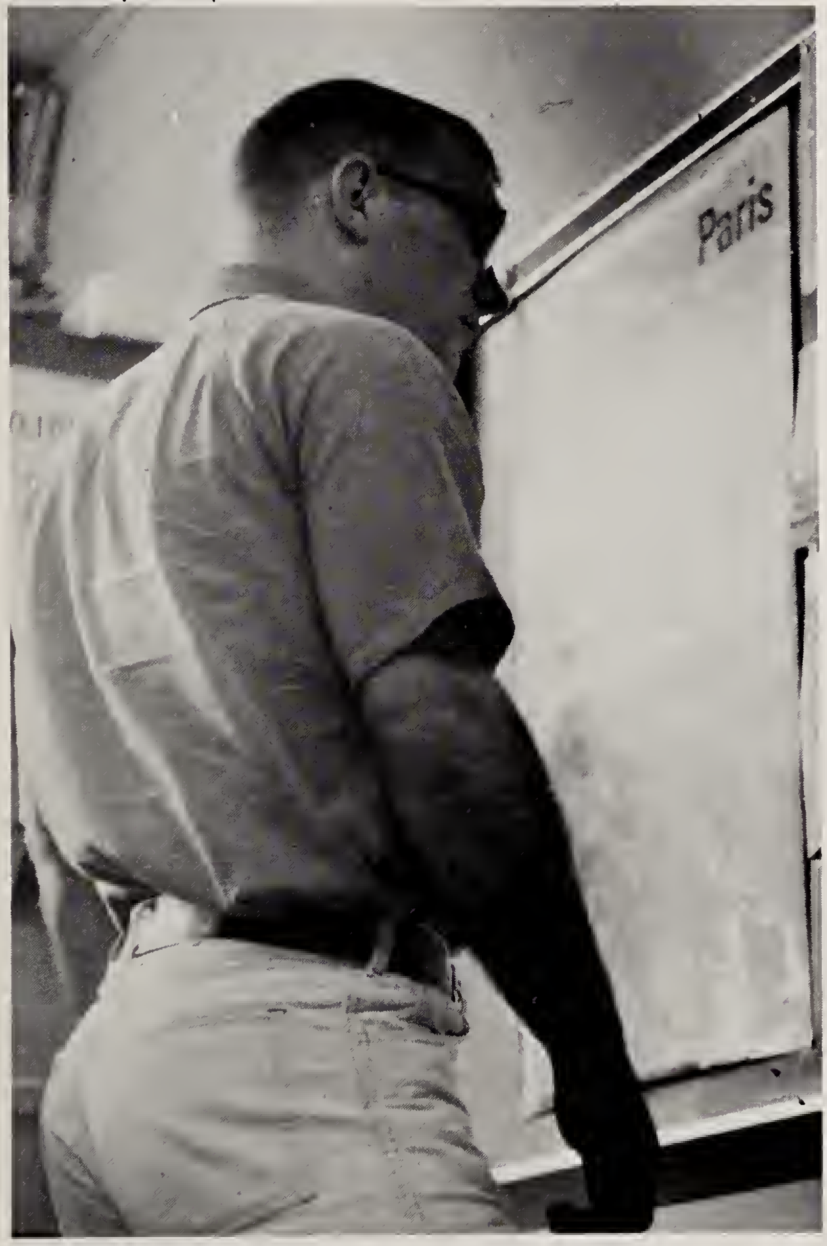
You can be sure that Tim Holston will come up with some gem since he is deep in thought pondering the question at hand.

Doug Jones and Tim Whitaker are only too glad to welcome Kathy's kute kamera to the heritage English section in order to break away from the grind.

Mr. Cowden evidently is instilling in his student teacher, Stan Bosler, a few tricks to pull on his frosh English class during a spelldown.

Latin Provide Excellent Reinforcement For Study In English Classes

Sandy Harrington and Carla McComas aren't really sure they will make good senoritas because they haven't taken a particular positive attitude toward turrones that was served in Dr. Piquer's Spanish class.



Tom Clevidence dreams of far distant places such as Paris as he views the travel posters in the dean's office.

Since English is considered as the foundation for good communications, course content in this department included much writing, the reading of poetry and prose, from Shakespeare to the modern novel. Students may elect speech to fulfill the English requirement. Speech students present the daily student bulletin. Seniors may elect business communications as their four year of English.

Foreign languages offered at Medina Senior High this year include French, German, Spanish, and Latin. French and German are offered for three years; Latin, for two years; Spanish for four years with an Advanced Placement course making five years for outstanding students.

In May, students may take the AP test for college credit hours. The test covers not only the language techniques but also the history of Spain.

Language classes have continued the International Club, which was founded last year. Meetings are held monthly.

Installation of a new language lab supplements other teaching aids in this department.

Jean Hutchinson and Bernie McDermott just last through the 9th period by enjoying the publication, Bunte, during Miss Muren's German class.

J. Ritchie of Mrs. Oswald's Art I class gets a live model in basketball star Tony Werner. Tony discovered that this form of keeping in shape proved to be more work than performing on the court.

Mrs. Christy gives tips to Peggy Kapp and Mary Ingram during a session of sculpturing.

Fine Arts Occupy Prominent Place In Local Curriculum

Music to suit your fancy could be the theme of the music department. Students may enroll in marching and concert band, mixed choir, girls' glee, or orchestra. Marching band starts practice before school begins in the fall. Double periods daily help this outstanding unit to perfect its prize-winning performances. A music theory course aids students to obtain a major in music at MHS. After school, pop music may be heard from the music wing as members of the Stardusters, the local dance band, polish their "big band sounds."

Probably the most outstanding production of the art department this year was the second annual product of "Living Pictures." Students painted backdrops of famous artists' works and then used live models for their presentations. Course content varies from the usual painting to rug hooking, sculpting, enameling, and other crafts. An art history class is also offered to enrich the curriculum in this department.

Carolyn Nichols and Pam Simones fiddle during orchestra practice —only trouble is one is doing "Fiddle Faddle," while the other is doing "The Hot Canary."

Janet Clark hopes she has caught the eye of her band directors with her little gimmick of practicing early in order to get that grade raised.

Stock Market, Income Tax, Voting, Termpapers Are Part Of Social Studies

Jan Hattery and Diane Morton are quite pleased with their selection of stock shares. After checking the latest quotations, they've discovered they've made a million—well, at least on paper.

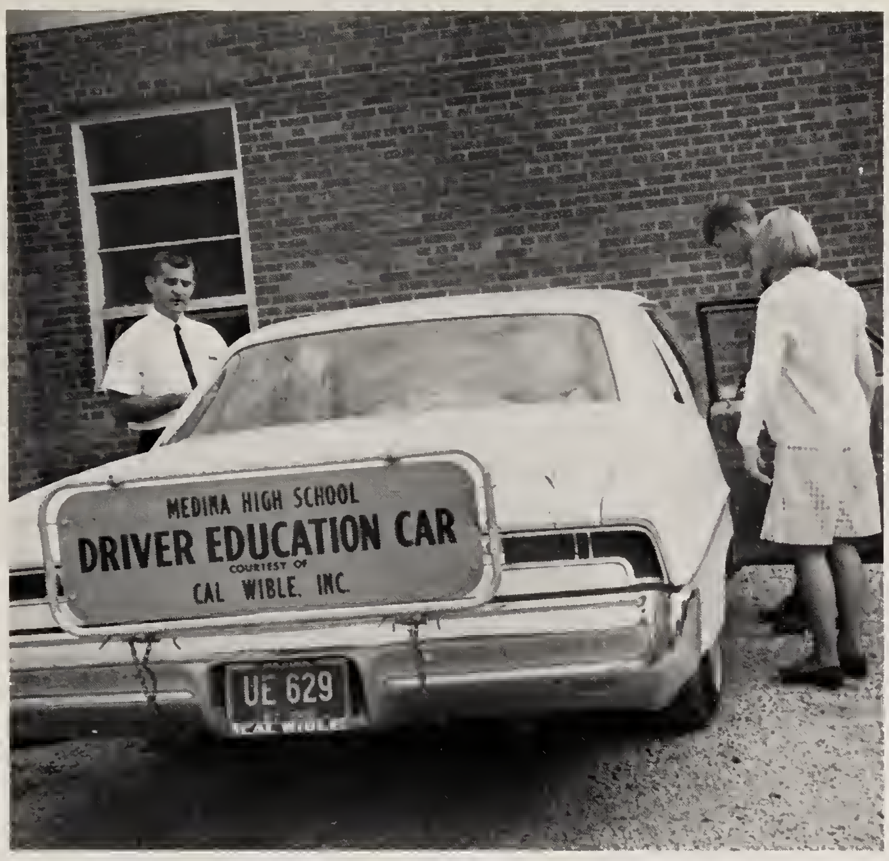
Social sciences include American government, economics, AP History for seniors. Junior courses included American history, world history, and American Heritage.

Economics students had fun playing the stock market and working on income tax returns. All students were given a look at a real voting booth as the lobby was used during regular elections.

Rick Brobst, Bill Wolfe, Macy Hallock, and Dave Claypool, we bet, are using that old alibi—"I have a paper for social studies"—to get admittance to the library. Can't you tell they're working diligently?

Now, we're sure that voting procedures were not taught this way at MHS. Well, anyway two of our juniors decided to get in some early practice when the voting booths were in the lobby during the primaries.

Physical Education and Driver Education Provide Different Pace During Student's Day



"Okay, pupils," instructs Mr. Platz. "Take your places and roll 'em!"

Physical education is required of all students each year. This year the girls participated in volleyball, archery, modern dancing, gymnastics, soccer and golf. Boys participated in wrestling, softball, and archery.

Driver education was delayed this past year as the school received a new car which had to be outfitted with a second brake. It seemed doubtful to many of the students that they would ever become drivers; however, under the careful guidance of Mr. Platz, they didn't manage to dent any fenders.

Mr. Weygandt's boys physical education class snaps to attention.

Vocational Courses Prepare

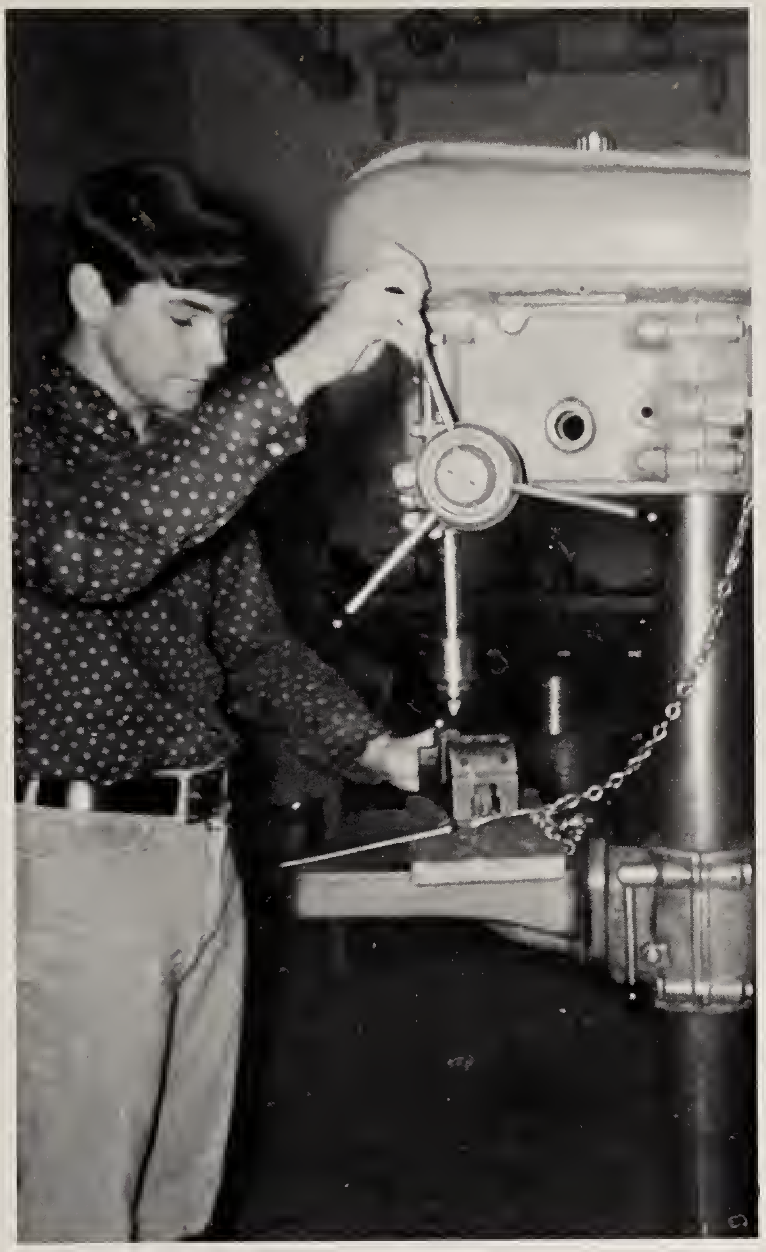
Business Machines students—Dave Williams and John Nixon remember to honor our local secretaries Marjorie Poetsch and Jean Thornburg with corsages on during "National Secretaries Week."

Ed Currier figures this extra work during business machines class should earn him a few polished points toward a grade. Here he is folding, counting and sorting programs that were printed in the department for a concert.

Kathy Beers takes advantage of a quiet moment in the shorthand lab to get in some extra pages of practice by listening to a tape-recorded lesson that comes to her by way of a wireless student unit.

Diane Myers checks her letter to see if it will pass the mailability test before she submits it to the instructor during shorthand transcription class.

Students For Employment After Graduation



Rick Blevins zeroes in with a drill press as he completes a project during metals class.

Although many of our students enter college after graduation, some of them do not remain for very long. Lucky are those who have enrolled in some vocational training for they are able to secure jobs to support themselves.

Business courses include typewriting, two years of shorthand, office practice, business machines, bookkeeping, record keeping, and business communications.

Courses in mechanical drawing, electricity, wood shop, welding, metals, and graphic arts are offered to students not interested in the business field.

All classes may enroll in home economics. Next year the course will be upgraded by being converted to vocational home economics.

Lee Roby and Larry Thompson work the bugs out of a printing job before they start the final product.

Do too many cooks spoil the dessert? Not true, say Pam Henniger, Pam Williams, and Michelle Mutter as they team up to prepare a delicious dish during home economics class.

Would you believe that Mike Brooks and Dick Aufmuth are actually doing one experiment correctly in chem lab; or, is Mr. Van just waiting for them to get in deeper to prove they don't have all the answers.

Science courses inspire students to look to the future in space.

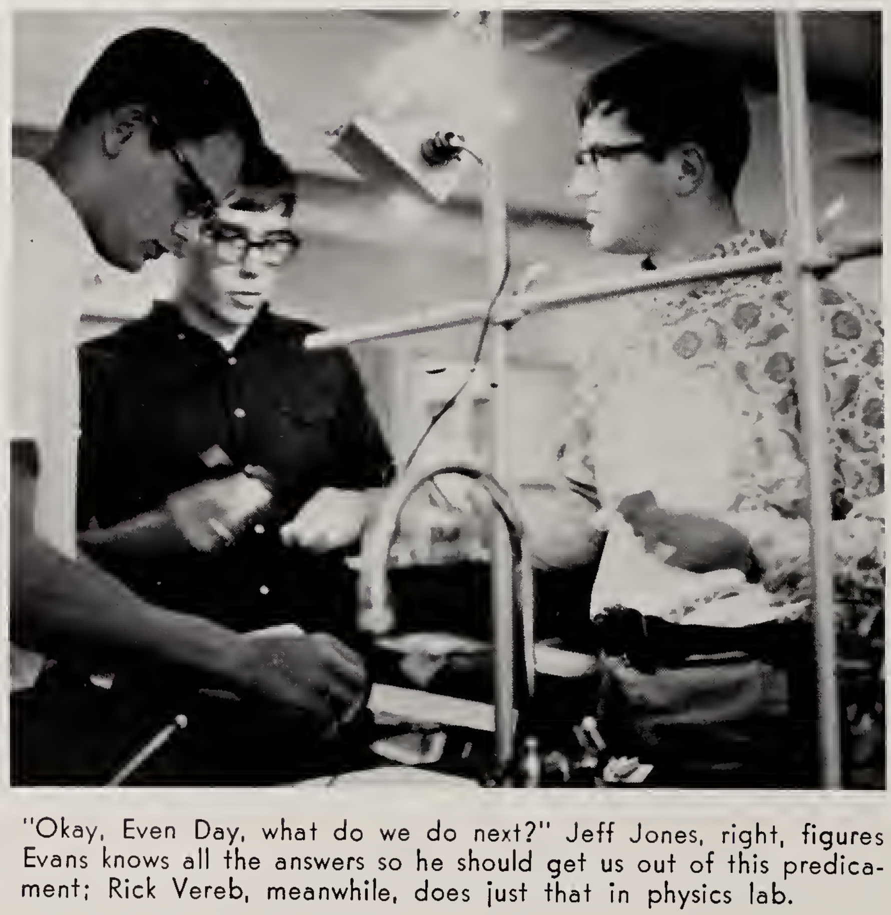
The frosh, not to be outdone, take to their own rockets as Don Gifford, Tim Myers, John Treleaven, and Rob Wilder prepare to blast off.



"Okay, Even Day, what do we do next?" Jeff Jones, right, figures Evans knows all the answers so he should get us out of this predicament; Rick Vereb, meanwhile, does just that in physics lab.

In this age of computers, a basic knowledge of mathematics is essential

In the space age with science and math being brought to the forefront, schools are always on the alert to prepare their students to meet the challenging needs of the world. Our school is no exception.

Science courses include physics, regular and chem-study approach to chemistry, biology in two approaches and physical science for freshmen.

This year the math department added a course in ungraded math and a math IV course for those seniors who do not wish to take AP math. This course includes instruction of the slide rule and analytical geometry. Courses in geometry, trig, algebra and general math are also offered to students.

Math Club Stimulates Students By Higher Mathematics

The Math Club consists of seniors interested in math. Math Club's main project this year was to have been a visit to NASA late in May.

The club has had several discussions, on subjects such as flying saucers and the art of playing chess. The club also attempted to solve any problems suggested by its members.

Math Club's most useful accomplishment this year has been learning to use the slide rule in three easy lessons given by Mr. Brewer.

Audio Club Provides Noon Entertainment

The main purpose of the Audio Club is to provide musical entertainment for students during their lunch period. The club also sets up audio equipment for all assemblies. Some members of the club use their knowledge and equipment to help at the functions of other organizations, such as the Drama and Gymnastics Club. The club plans one social event a year to earn money for new and needed equipment.

Girls' Athletic Association began their activities this year with the initiation of freshmen into the club. Initiation included a potluck supper and various "Fun" activities conducted by the senior members.

The main competitive sport sponsored by GAA this year was intramural volleyball. The "BOOGERS", a team of juniors, emerged victorious and became champions of the tournament. GAA had two early morning playdays which began at 6:30 A.M., when members could play any sport they wanted.

Spring sports sponsored by GAA were table tennis and softball. GAA finished the year with the election of next year's officers at a potluck supper.

GLC activities began this year with the formal initiation of new members in the fall. Informal initiation (pure torture and humiliation) took place at a home basketball game in December and was followed by a slumber party.

At the beginning of basketball season, members dressed in the team's warmups and presented a skit at a pep assembly. Names of basketball brothers were drawn and good luck charms were presented to the brothers. Refreshments were also served to the players after home games.

Club members ushered at the Barbershop Quartet Benefit for Linda and Rich, and sold tickets at the home football and basketball games. In April, GLC held a dinner meeting at which new members received their GLC pins.

As a community service project, GLC members presented a musical program at the County Home. Yearly activities ended with a picnic for members and initiates.

Y-Teens has been a very busy club this year. Among its many activities have been a slumber party, a swimming party, a hayride, and making scrapbooks for hospital patients. During the year, Y-Teens sponsored several bakesales, as well as coat checks at the home basketball games.

In February, Y-Teens sponsored the "Sweetheart Swirl," a highly successful Valentine's Dance. This Spring club members chose "track brothers" and supplied them with tasty goodies the day of the track meet.

The Medina Y-Teens Club also participated in other county-co-ordinated programs. With increasing membership and varied activities, Y-Teens has become a rapidly growing club in our school.

Future Teachers of America is a club devoted to encouraging students in the area of teaching. FTA meetings every, fourth Tuesday of the month, included potluck suppers and special speakers or films. FTA listened to an interesting panel of teachers speaking on their student teaching experiences. At Christmas, FTA had a potluck dinner and gift exchange. In February members of the club went to Garfield Elementary School to substitute while the teachers attended a meeting. During April, "Teaching Career Month," club members went to several elementary schools to observe teachers in their classrooms. FTA sponsored two bakesales as money-making projects this year.

Musical Bees Present Another Outstanding Year of Entertainment for Fans

Musical Bee members hear the call of the whistle long before school starts in September. With this pre-school practice, double-period school sessions, plus line drill, etc. The Bees prove that correct practice does make perfect.

Always striving for that extra effect, directors Carey and Mougey spend extra hours in working out intricate steps and perfecting music.

Medina students are indeed proud of their own Musical Bees and are always eager to await their performances on the gridiron or on the main street of any town.

Sophomores—Gene Steiner and Kris High do outstanding jobs of exhibition twirling and marching ahead of Medina's Bee musicians.

Directors—James Mougey and Charles Carey have reason to smile because of their musicians.

Concert Band Makes It No. 4 In Consecutive State "I" Ratings

Medina's concert band chalked up their fourth consecutive state A-I rating in competition this year.

Among the band's activities, aside from their trips to the Akron and Lima contests, were the Pops Concert and Annual Winter Concert. The Pops Concert is presented free in appreciation of the support given by the community for the musical group. Bandsmen who sold the most tickets to one of the concerts were awarded free tickets to "Funny Girl."

Special Groups Offer Music Students Opportunities to Pursue Interests

In its first year at MHS, Girls Glee meets fourth period daily. This organization made several appearances during the school year.

The orchestra gives those persons who have an interest in the stringed instruments a chance to participate in the high school music program. String players, who combined with concert band members, provide many enjoyable moments of fine music for local audiences.

When there is a call for "The Big Band Sound," one need not look any farther than our own music department, for the Stardusters excel in this medium. Members, in their new, bright blue blazers, performed for an adult dance sponsored by the student council as well as for several other functions. Even though they may not have a current booking, members get together to enjoy playing good danceable music.

Preparation for Homecoming, 1966, began in September as the Juniors and Seniors started building their floats. Competition was keen, as each class tried to outdo the other. The results of the "contest" were two beautiful floats that carried the members of the Homecoming court in a parade to a gigantic bonfire on Thursday night, October 13. The court, Celia Gerding, Billie Meyers, Linda Montgomery, and Cheryl Riegger, had been selected by the student body, but at this time nobody knew which of the four girls was queen.

In pre-game ceremonies Friday night, the court was introduced to the fans and the announcement of the choice of queen was made. Crowned by last year's queen Laura McLaughlin, Billie Meyers officially began her reign as Homecoming Queen, 1966.

The Homecoming Dance, "Bee-Witched," was held on Saturday evening. The formal presentation of Queen Billie and her court was made, and the new royalty presided over the festivities till the "Bee-Witching" hour of midnight brought the memorable weekend to a close.

During the Queen's Dance Tony makes the proposition, "Billie, if you don't step on ME, I won't step on YOU. O.K.?"

The theme of an old French Quarter was used for the Prom which was held on May 19, at the Chippewa Lake Ballroom. Dominant colors were red, gold, and black.

Cindy Hurd, junior vice president and her escort Richard Neptune escorted Prom King and Queen and attendants to the king's korner in the front of the ballroom. Mike Palinchik and Chris Rickard were selected by the juniors as Prom King and Queen with Jack Conley and Janet Hale selected as their attendants. After the King and Queen received their official crowning by junior president Kathy Kline and her escort, the Royalty led the dance in their honor to the music of Johnny Nuzum's orchestra. Dancing continued until midnight.

Saturday, May 20, found members of the Junior and Senior Classes and faculty members meeting in the cafeteria for a buffet supper. Following the supper, everyone convened to the gymnasium where the juniors presented entertainment with the theme, "Remember When," which traced the life of a student from the time he enters grade school through graduation.

Gary Hetrick catches a pass for big gain against Bay Village.

CLOVERLEAF: Initial-game captains led the Bees to their first win of the season with an impressive 28-0 victory over the Cloverleaf Colts. Touchdowns of 5, 8, and 12 yards by senior halfback Gary Hetrick, and an 11-yard sprint by junior fullback Tom Clevidence, paced the Medina victory. A tough defensive line held the Colts on a goal-line stand in the final minutes of the first half. Medina dampened the remaining Cloverleaf sparks in the second half and went on to an easy victory.

BAY VILLAGE: The 1965 SWC Football Champs, the Rockets of Bay, proved no equal to the tough Medina defense in a 20-12 victory for the host Bees. One of the largest home town crowds turned out to see Gary Hetrick and Jack Conley pick off five Bay passes. The game was highlighted by an electrifying 63-yard run by sophomore Ken McEwen which put Medina on the scoreboard first.

AVON LAKE: Medina suffered its first defeat against the Avon Lake Shoremen in a 28-6 loss. The Bees had one of their worst nights with several fumbles and interceptions. Medina's only touchdown was made by Bob Bates early in the first quarter on a sweep around the end.

To Tie For Second Place In Southwest Conference

Halfback Gary Hetrick plunges over for a score against Rocky River. Jack Conley (82) and Ray Eckert (65) are the other Bee gridders.

OLMSTED FALLS: The Bees whipped the Bulldogs of Olmsted Falls in a slashing 22-0 victory. Medina got their first TD on a short-yardage pass from Bates to Letterly. The second TD came on short-yardage runs after Conley caught a pass on the fifteen. Bates threw a long pass to Hetrick to the one for another set-up in the third period. Bates punched it in from there.

first Bee victory over River in a dozen years. Hetrick turned the tide when he intercepted a River aerial and scampered for 20 yards and the first six points for Medina. Hetrick also scored with less than a minute remaining from the Pirate three. Bates and Conley combined for a 45-yard pass play and another six for the Green and White.

FAIRVIEW: The Bees dropped a heartbreaking game to Fairview's Warriors, 30-26. A large Homecoming crowd turned out to watch the Bees fight hard and tediously against the clock. However, they were unable to pull out a victory. The game was very important in that the Medina "11" needed to win to stay in contention for the SWC crown. Conley and Hetrick highlighted the game with pass-play touchdowns of 79 and 66 yards.

NORTH OLMSTED: Scoring a pair of touchdowns in the fourth quarter, the Bees ruined North Olmsted's hopes of a victory. Conley ran back two Eagle punts to set up short Medina drives of 24 and 20 yards, each capped by one-yard plunges by Hetrick, making it 12-6, Medina.

EASTLAKE: Two long touchdowns via passes from quarterback Bates to end Conley, proved the difference in a 14-6 Medina victory. A rugged goal-line defense by the Bees during the final seconds of the first half enabled the Bees to preserve the win. The game was the last SWC encounter for the Bees and the victory put the Medinians in a tie for second-place honors.

WADSWORTH: A long rivalry between Medina and Wadsworth was reviewed this year after an intermission since 1953. A snow-swept field and temperatures below freezing didn't stop either team in displaying fine defensive efforts. A fumble by Medina early in the game proved fatal for the Bees. The Grizzlies took advantage of the opportunity and marched the ball in for the score. The conversion was also good. The Bees came back with a score as Bates ran it across from the one. Medina failed in their attempt for the extra points and the score stood at Wadsworth 7, Medina 6. Scoring efforts by the Bees late in the final minutes of the game failed and Wadsworth took the victory.

Class Officers Assume The Duties Of Organizing

Remember when we ...

worked so hard on the Homecoming Parade float nearly froze on Senior Night at the Wadsworth football game snitched more pumpkins than the Class of '66 anxiously awaited Christmas vacation, then exams were just going to the library but ended up at The Clown received that first letter of acceptance from "our" college disguised "senior appropriations" had fun at the Prom and Senior Banquet graced the school with a Colt 45 used locker #2024 for marble storage

Awards Assembly Honors Many Deserving Seniors

Highest honors bestowed on seniors are the Manhood and Womanhood Awards. Phil Maur and Cheryl Riegger received the awards this year. Cheryl was also recipient, with Jane Yeager, of the annual Music Award. Phil, who headed the Student Council, sparked the Dollars for Scholars Drive.

Mike Palinchik was awarded the Sidney Fenn award for his academic and athletic prowess. Mike, senior prexy, graduated in the Order of the Golden Tassel and was a member of the National Honor Society. Jack Conley received the Outstanding Athlete Award. Conley played football and basketball and was named to several honorary teams. He also received the Encore Shop Scholarship along with Brian Coffey.

As this record of the past school year comes to a close, we earnestly hope that this edition of the MEDINIAN will have fulfilled its purpose: to remind you of the school year in review.

The students and faculty pictured in this book at work and at play were affected by local, national, and world-wide events. This was the year of Twiggy, pierced ears, mini skirts, saddles, green and white, morning announcement ad libs, and "would you believe?" In music, the Tijuana Brass still rated tops along with The Monkeys.

Many will remember the political scene in which a lady and a movie star were elected as governors. One senator took to the recording field while another senator and a congressman were censured by their colleagues. While police were having troubles with race riots and protest marches, the President of the United States kept in the news with a "Meeting in Manila" and surgery. The space race was marked by the flights of Gemini 10 the Lunar Orbiter 2, and the tragic Apollo fire which took lives of three astronauts. Discussion of the war in Vietnam was heard almost everywhere.

The world mourned the loss of movie industry's Walt Disney while films such as "The Sound of Music," "Doctor Zhivago," and "Virginia Woolf" were box office drawing cards. Other headlines came over William Manchester's book, The Death of A President, and the housewives' boycott of supermarkets because of high food prices. Teachers even got into the strike habit along with labor; and on the local scene, we even had our own school board fuss.

The Editor wishes to express sincere appreciation to fellow staff members, especially Billie Meyers and Kathy Kline, who always came through when needed, our advertising patrons, photographers, our friends at the Gazette for so much help, and, of course, you, the subscriber. Without you, this volume would not have been possible.

It is true the school year is needed, but we hope that this edition will live up to its goal: to help you "Remember when . . ."
